

Conferences @ Huon Bush Retreats

Inspiring and environmentally conscious!

As soon as you head off the meandering back roads of the Huon Valley and venture up into the forested hills surrounding Huon Bush Retreats you know you have found somewhere truly inspiring.

What better way to get your team enthused about the future of your organisation than in a modern and energising building surrounded by the tranquil forests of Huon Bush Retreats' Mt Misery Habitat Reserve? Every person will awake refreshed and inspired as the music of native birds fills the air. Take a rejuvenating walk to oxygenate the brain and eat sumptuous local and organic foods.

Your conference won't cost the earth. Huon Bush Retreats operates according to worldwide strict ecologically sustainable principles. The range of studio and family cabins and deluxe tipis are maintained with solar power, natural rainwater and eco-friendly products.

Your stay will contribute to the ongoing protection of a diverse forest landscape and a sustainable income for local communities.

About Us

Mt Misery Habitat Reserve is a loose community conservation effort, where about many neighbours have co-operatively protected some eight square kilometers (1,600 acres) of private land plus the intervening public lands.

Many of the properties (including Huon Bush Retreats) are protected in perpetuity by conservation covenants. Covenants are attached to the title and the conditions apply to all future owners. Most of the covenants in this area allow people to use 20% of each title, leaving 80% protected for nature.

Part of the reserve, southwest from the summit, is owned by Huon Nature Trust and leased by Huon Bush Retreats.

Huon Nature Trust exists to commercially support the aims and protection of Mt Misery Habitat Reserve. Environmentally minded people have pooled money into the trust to achieve protection of natural values.

The unit trust owns the land, cabins and infrastructure, with the principal goal of protecting the land and natural values at Mt Misery. It is an arrangement where ethical investment meets private conservation. The Trust then leases the land and cabins to Huon Bush Retreats.

About half of the available units have been sold so far. As units are sold, more cabins can be built, up to the maximum of eight. After that, we hope to purchase surrounding land to better protect the core values of Mt Misery Habitat Reserve.

Our Ethics

- ✓ Protecting the natural values of Mt Misery Area and encouraging better protection of the environment everywhere
- ✓ Treating guests and staff with equality and respect, regardless of race, sexuality, political persuasions or religion
- ✓ Sharing our vision for a community where people live in close harmony with their natural surroundings
- ✓ Supporting community groups with environmental or social equality policies. Each month, we give a raffle prize or similar to such a group.
